CESO Branding Update as presented by CESO: Bob Noyed, Eric Anthony, and Jon Stone of CESO presented their new branding ideas for Brooklyn Center Community School District. They told us about perceptions people had shared with the about BC and their ways to change those perceptions. CESO wants to focus on the positive aspects that make Brooklyn Center different from other areas. They hope to encompass the thriving center for learning and advancement where people know anyone belongs and our diversity is seen as a powerful force for developing well rounded global citizens. We stand Front and Center, a community moving toward the center together, moving toward change. We want to be front and center so we are seen and heard which will help bring out the potential in our students that we know is there.
